BROWN, Senior Judge.

This matter comes before the Court on Defendant Sid Edward Willis's Petition (#144) for Writ of Habeas Corpus by A Person in Federal Custody (28 U.S.C. § 2241) (28 U.S.C. § 2255). For the reasons that follow, the Court DENIES Defendant's Petition and DECLINES to issue a certificate of appealability.

BACKGROUND

On June 5, 2012, Defendant was charged in an Indictment with one count of Felon in Possession of a Firearm in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1).

On July 22, 2013, Defendant pled guilty at a change-of-plea hearing.

In his Plea Agreement Defendant agreed he "waive[d] the right to file any collateral attack, including a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255, challenging any aspect of the conviction or sentence on any grounds, except on grounds of ineffective assistance of counsel." At the change-of-plea hearing the Court explained to Defendant that he was waiving his right to collaterally attack his sentence on any ground other than ineffective assistance of counsel. Defendant stated he understood, and he also agreed he "freely and voluntarily accept[ed] the terms and conditions of th[e] plea offer." The Court was "satisfied [Defendant is] fully competent . . . and he is making a knowing, intelligent, and voluntary waiver of [his] rights."

On December 23, 2013, the Court sentenced Defendant to a term of 180 months imprisonment followed by three years of supervised release.

On December 24, 2013, the Court entered a Judgment.

On December 26, 2013, Defendant filed an appeal of his conviction with the Ninth Circuit.

On July 29, 2015, the Ninth Circuit affirmed Defendant's conviction for Felon in Possession.

On March 14, 2016, Defendant filed a Motion to Vacate or Correct Sentence under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 in which he alleged he received ineffective assistance from his trial counsel.

On June 7, 2016, Defendant filed an Amended Motion (#99) to Vacate or Correct Sentence under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 (#in which he again asserted he received ineffective assistance from trial counsel, that he was subjected to selective prosecution because of his race, and that the prosecutor violated Defendant's due-process rights when he failed to correct what Defendant believes was false testimony by Portland Police Officer Kimberley Hubbard at the suppression hearing.

On June 9, 2017, the Court issued an Opinion and Order (#135) in which it denied Defendant's Motions to Vacate. The Court also denied a certificate of appealability.

On July 10, 2017, Defendant appealed the Court's June 9, 2017, Opinion and Order to the Ninth Circuit.

On July 10, 2017, Defendant also filed a Motion (#138) for Reconsideration of the Court's June 9, 2017, Opinion and Order.

On September 8, 2017, the Court issued an Order (#142) granting Defendant's Motion for Reconsideration to the extent that the Court reconsidered its June 9, 2017, Opinion and Order. The Court, however, adhered to its conclusion that there was not any legal basis for the relief sought by Defendant in his Motions or for the Court to issue a Certificate of Appealability.

On November 8, 2017, the Ninth Circuit dismissed Defendant's appeal on the ground that Defendant had not established "jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the [§ 2255 motion] states a valid claim of the denial of a constitutional right and that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the district court was correct in its procedural ruling."

On April 23, 2018, Defendant filed in the United States District Court for the Central District of California a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241 and/or 28 U.S.C. § 2255.

On April 25, 2018, the California District Court entered an Order in which it concluded Defendant's petition did not qualify as a Petition for Habeas Corpus pursuant to § 2241 based on the claims asserted in his Petition, and, "[t]herefore, § 2255 is the exclusive means by which [Defendant] may bring [his] claim, and he must do so in the sentencing court." Def.'s Pet., Ex. 1 at 1-2. Accordingly, the California District Court transferred Defendant's Petition for Habeas Corpus pursuant to § 2255 to this Court. This Court took the matter under advisement on June 1, 2018.

DISCUSSION

As noted, the California District Court concluded Defendant cannot bring his Petition pursuant to § 2241 and that § 2255 provides his sole ground for relief.

Defendant, however, has already brought and fully litigated a Motion to Vacate Sentence pursuant to § 2255 in this District. Defendant's Petition now before the Court, therefore, is a successive petition for relief under § 2255. 28 U.S.C. § 2255(h) provides:

(h) A second or successive motion [to vacate pursuant to § 2255] must be certified as provided in section 2244 by a panel of the appropriate court of appeals to contain--

(1) newly discovered evidence that, if proven and viewed in light of the evidence as a whole, would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that no reasonable factfinder would have found the movant guilty of the offense; or

(2) a new rule of constitutional law, made retroactive to cases on collateral review by the Supreme Court, that was previously unavailable.

In addition, 28 U.S.C. § 2244 provides:

Before a second or successive application permitted by this section is filed in the district court, the applicant shall move in the appropriate court of appeals for an order authorizing the district court to consider the application.

* * *

A district court shall dismiss any claim presented in a second or successive application that the court of appeals has authorized to be filed unless the applicant shows that the claim satisfies the requirements of this section.

28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(3)(A) and (4).

The record does not reflect and Defendant does not allege he has filed a Motion with the Ninth Circuit for an order authorizing this Court to consider his Petition for Habeas Corpus pursuant to § 2255. This Court, therefore, must dismiss Defendant's Petition pursuant to § 2244(b)(4).

In addition, the Court concludes Defendant has not made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right. Accordingly, the Court declines to issue a certificate of appealability.

CONCLUSION

For these reasons, the Court DENIES Defendant's Petition (#144) for Writ of Habeas Corpus by A Person in Federal Custody (28 U.S.C. § 2241) (28 U.S.C. § 2255).

The Court also concludes Defendant has not made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right. Accordingly, the Court DECLINES to issue a certificate of appealability.
